

DEATHS

SIBLEY S. MORRILL

Sibley Sherman Morrill, 68, of 619 Prospect Row, San Mateo, died Sunday at his home.

Born in Concord, N.H., he had lived in San Mateo for the past eight years.

A graduate of Harvard University, he was a former editorial writer for the Alameda Times and The Argonaut of San Francisco. A freelance journalist for more than 50 years, he was writer and publisher of "The Self-Publishing Writer" at the time of his death.

He was a member of the Press Club of San Francisco and the Harvard Club.

Survivors include his wife, Isobel W. Morrill of San Mateo; two daughters, Lucy Morrill Saroyan of Burbank and Olivia Morrill of Washington state; and one grand-daughter.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Dutra-Randleman Funeral Home in Half Moon Bay. Interment will be at Skylawn Memorial Park.

Contributions to the American Heart Association are preferred by the family.